Summer is in full swing here in the Pacific Northwest. Parades, car shows, cruise ins, and many other events sponsored by our neighboring Corvette clubs give you a wide variety of activities, but there is always room for more. So if you know of a great mystery tour or event, or would like to lead one, get hold of Michele Roberts to see if we can pull it off.

Now a word for our sponsors. I truly appreciate the dedication and faithfulness of our sponsors. Remember them as your first choice on your next purchase of the products or services they offer. They are great people to deal with. And if it is time to refresh that Corvette, Grey Chevrolet has a new 2014 Coupe in stock. 2015 will be a great year as well with the introduction of the new Z06 and the 8 speed automatic transmission. It is not too early to start the discussion.

Here is a technical tip that is worth repeating – A friend came to me and asked my advice on an electrical problem he was having with his Corvette. Seems like all of the instruments were operating erratically and a couple of other unrelated controls were not working right and he was worried about a big electrical troubleshooting bill. Many times, especially on today’s Corvettes with extensive electronic systems and multiple computer systems, that troubleshooting task seems overwhelming. Trying to find the right place to start may not be obvious, but most of the time, it is usually a simple fix. The common element in many of these systems, indicators and controls is a ground connection which is usually lumped together with several other ground wires on a frame member or on an intake manifold stud. Given the harsh nature of the environment these ground connections are subjected to (dissimilar metals corrosion, hot, cold, condensation, etc.), it doesn’t take long to build up resistance which causes a voltage drop in the system and all of a sudden, things stop working. So before running off to the dealership, locate those ground terminals and clean those ground connections. It might just save you a lot of time and money. If you are having problems with your Corvette, give me a call and I will see what I can do. (BTW – Cleaning the grounds fixed my friend’s Corvette.)

Be sure to come to our next meeting which will be the Member Appreciation BBQ at our house (15315 Virginia Point Road NE, Poulsbo). The E-Board has authorized $200 for the meat which should get us some tasty steaks and chicken. Combine that with delicious pot luck salads and desserts you bring and we will have a very tasty meeting indeed. Plan on eating at 6:00 pm and we will hold the meeting at 7:00 pm. Please call or email Deedee with whatever you plan to bring or for suggestions on what is needed:

Corvette of the Month: 2006 C6

Here is Mary Kay & Keith Welch's story about their 2006 Corvette.

"Since early 2013 I have been talking about moving up to a C6. But as usual my personal finance director (Mary Kay) kept saying the C5 was good enough and we should not spend more money at this time. But as usual I just kept working on her to wear her down. Eventually the ice started to break and in March 2014, MK starting helping me look for a C6.

We found a few on line, but either too much money or too many miles or something wasn't right. In April we found a 2007 Indy Pace car for sale. It was a convertible, low miles (of course), painted orange with a wicked paint job for the Indy race. MK was starry eyed over this. But it was in Indiana and a little too far to go. We also decide it was too much money, even though it was a one of a kind car.

Then we continued our search and one day we were looking at Auto Trader, MK spotted a Blue 2006 coupe in Oregon. I called on it and after talking to the salesman we decided to take a drive down to Beaverton, Ore, where it was located.

We both test drove it, went thru it from top to bottom and agreed it was just what we were looking for. So on April 12, 2012 we traded in our black 2000 C5 and we drove home with our 2006 Lemans Blue C6 with 49,458 miles on it.

But even now I continue to talk about C7s and wanting to own one someday, MK has put a moratorium on me that we have to keep this car at least 5 years. HMMM, I think I need to start working on her to break the ice. Wonder how long that will take??"

Monterey Auto Week & Concours d'Elegance August 11 - 17, 2014

A tradition going back over half a century, the Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance is where the world's collector cars meet and compete. Only the 200 best collector cars in the world roll onto the legendary 18th fairway of Pebble Beach Golf Links, and only a handful of those will receive official recognition for style, technical merit and historical accuracy.

But the Concours is only the final event in a packed week celebrating the classic automobile! All over Monterey County, classic cars take to streets, golf courses, parks and the world-renowned Mazda Raceway Laguna Seca, surrounding visitors with automobiles from yesteryear. Plus auto auctions, cruises, & shows.

Need to experience Monterey Auto Week on a budget? Make sure to refer to the Concours on a Shoestring page.

Carpenter's Road Trip Saga

Doug & Pam Carpenter have a 2008 Trophy Red Coupe. They recently made a 29 state tour, including two countries and a 150 mph rip thru West Texas, here is their story.

Our first evening was spent in Portland visiting friends. We spent one night on the road on our way to the San Diego area to visit a grandson and his wife. After a very enjoyable two nights at their home, we were on the road again to Houston to visit Pam's nephews and Doug's cousin. We stayed at our cousin's home for 3 nights, took a side trip to Galveston with him, had a Bar-B-Q and pool party with nephews and grand nephews and grand niece, visited the cemetery where Pam's father, brother, and sister-in-law are resting, and then drove on to New Orleans where we stayed three nights at the home of Pam's brother and sister-in-law. Another 2 nights on the road to Miami (Doug was able to connect with a colleague in N. Ft. Meyers whom he hadn't seen in 45 years) where we spent a night prior to our departure on a 7 day Caribbean cruise. We were on the newest NCL ship, the Getaway, stopping in St. Maarten, St. Thomas, and Nassau.

We spent the night in KY and then travelled to the Washington, DC area to visit a friend of Pam's in order to meet her new husband. Two more nights on the road led us into Canada for Doug to visit a Canadian WWII destroyer and then on to Flint, MI to visit kids, grandkids, and great grandkids. After 3 days in Flint, it was on to the Milwaukee area to visit another one of Doug's cousins and finally on to Rochester, MN to visit Doug's youngest son, his wife, and 3 grandkids. Pam was also able to visit with a former employee/friend whose husband had died in Nov.

After spending the night in MN, we headed home on a mission to arrive as quickly as possible. 2 nights and 3 days later we arrived at home. After a 657 mile last day, it was good to be home.

Upon our return from the cruise, we were on the road again for another 2 nights until reaching Bowling Green. We stopped at the museum first and just happened to mention that we also wanted to visit the factory. Thankfully, we had just enough time to race over, and I mean race, to the factory to participate in the last tour of the day. After we finished the tour of the factory, but before we could enter the section of the museum that included the sinkhole, we were required to sign a waiver of liability! There is still much discussion regarding which cars will be restored, how the vehicles will be displayed, and whether or not some portion of the sinkhole will be left for display purposes. Attendance at the museum since the incident has increased dramatically. We have included pictures of some of the vehicles that went into the sinkhole.

National Corvette Museum Sinkhole

According to Christy Thomas – CFO for the museum – the number of visitors from March-June 23, 2014 is up 59 percent, compared to the same time last year. Admissions to the museum have increased by 71 percent, Corvette Café sales have surged by 58 percent, Corvette Store sales rose by 58 percent, and membership to the museum has climbed by 72 percent. With total revenue up by 65 percent, the sinkhole has added a new level of interest in its customers.

It shouldn’t come as a surprise then to learn that the board has decided to keep a small portion – approximately 25 feet by 45 feet wide and 30 feet deep – of the sinkhole available for visitors to scrutinize. The original decision to fill the sinkhole was scrapped after attendance and museum revenues escalated.

Construction plans also include eliminating the two-level display space to allow more cars to be placed in the Skydome and to make it easier to get cars in and out of the facility.

Thomas believes that the decision to keep the sinkhole open is the best, since it leaves the option to fill the sinkhole later, if attendance happens to drop again. (from GM Authority Blog)

I've Gotta Question: How To clean Windows to Car Show Condition:

Cleaning car windows properly is a very important part of any detailing job, often overlooked. Many people have tried all manner of cleaning solutions in a bid to find out the best way to clean car windows. In addition, recently tinted car windows can take anywhere from 3 to 5 days before they completely dry out in summer. During winter it can take a few weeks before the window film dries up. Any water moisture trapped in between the film and glass will create a blistered and hazy appearance. However, there are several car window cleaning techniques that you can use to achieve the perfect clean and gleaming look – tinted windows or not.

The Truth about Ammonia: There are many glass cleaning products available in the market which contain ammonia. Vehicle owners should avoid such products since ammonia does not bode well with common car surfaces. In addition, glass cleaners with ammonia compounds cannot be used to clean tinted windows – they pose a damage risk to the film itself. Use a soft damp cloth to clean tinted glass. In place of products which contain ammonia, soapy water will work fine. You can also purchase spray foam glass cleaners to clean the tint material without streaking. Otherwise, there are plenty of ammonia-free glass cleaners on the market.

Microfiber Towels: can be used to clean even the most stubborn stains and produce great results. It is advisable to choose a microfiber towel with a tight weave as it would give you a better scrubbing capability. You should be wary of cheap microfiber products since most of them shed fibers easily. When cleaning car windows, dip one side of the towel in water and clean the glass. After you have finished cleaning, use the dry side and gently remove any signs of streaking. The majority of high-quality microfiber materials will eliminate any residual streaks. Again, this method is mainly for the outside of the glass. You must be much more gentle when cleaning the inside, especially if your car has tinted film.

Proper Wipe Down Tips: You can have quality products and still fail in washing windows without streaks forming. If you are using a spray, do not spray directly on the glass as most of it will be lost to the surrounding air. Instead, you should spray the cleaner on a towel and then proceed to wipe the windows using the towel. This should be done in a rhythmic and spreading motion to ensure that the entire glass surface comes into contact with the cleaner. After clearing all the dirty grime, use a microfiber towel to wipe the glass surface and remove any remaining dirt residue and streaks. Remember that while the windshield receives added attention, all other windows should also be cleaned thoroughly. During waxing, try to steer clear of the windows since any marks will result in a grimy appearance. However, some waxes actually work on glass – read the label for the recommendations for the product you are using. Avoid car washes that use spray wax on the windows.

Cleaning Water Spots: The best way to clean glass with such spots is by using quality glass polish products. All you have to do is use a foam applicator and then finish off by buffing with a microfiber towel.

Final Tip: Cleaning car windows in the shade to avoid the glass cleaner evaporating as this will create residual streaks.

Pink Corvettes

Donna Mae Mims, the first female SCCA (Sports Car Club of America) national champion, was known as the “Pink Lady” of racing because she wore a pink racing helmet and coveralls and had the phrase “Think Pink” emblazoned on the back of her pink racing cars.

Wi-Fi

Chevy says the 2015 Corvette and other GM models will have a OnStar 4G LTE connection Wi-Fi hotspot built-in to the car so passengers can connect multiple devices like smartphones, laptops, and tablets – at the same time – to high-speed wireless Internet offered on AT&T’s network. The built-in 4G LTE connection can be updated with the latest software and apps through AppShop via Chevrolet MyLink.
